The Angel Squad partners with groups and organizations throughout the community to promote breast cancer awareness and raise funds for patient services.

Reach to Recovery

Reach to Recovery (R to R) is the American Cancer Society's program for peer support, one survivor to a newly diagnosed survivor. All patients who wish a visit during clinic have a R to R volunteer who presents the patient with a handmade pillow and bag containing essential breast cancer information. All R to R volunteers have been trained by ACS and several of the Angels also function as R to R volunteers.
