September 21, 2011

Breast cancer is the most common cancer among women in the United States and is the second leading cause of cancer death in women. According to the American Cancer Society , about 230,480 new cases of invasive breast cancer will be diagnosed in 2011, and about 39,520 women will die from the disease.

The chance of a woman having breast cancer some time during her life is a little less than 1 in 8. The chance of dying from breast cancer is about 1 in 35. Breast cancer death rates have been going down, and can be attributed to earlier detection and better treatment. There are currently more than 2.5 million breast cancer survivors in the United States.

About the BCRFA

The Breast Cancer Foundation of Alabama was formed with the goal of establishing and expanding breast cancer research labs at the UAB Comprehensive Cancer Center. Through its many special events, the foundation has raised more than $2.5 million for research into this devastating disease. The Foundation board and its volunteers, many of whom are breast cancer survivors themselves, have galvanized their resources in the ongoing effort to find a cure. For complete event listings and details visit www.bcrfa.org
